Product Description

The Karahi or Kadhai is the Indian version of the Chinese Wok. It is a round, deep pan constructed out of heavy metal and comes with handles on both sides. Traditionally, the Karahi is used for sautéing or shallow to deep frying of potatoes, meat, sweets, and snacks such as samosa and fish. It can also be used for simmering stews or posolas which oftentimes are called Karahi just as their namesake utensil. Stews usually prepared in a Karahi include kaahi paneer and ... More >>
